Orders for Job Work received at this office.

LOUISVILLE.

WEDNESDAY, FEB. 22, 1859.

☞ The convention of the Opposition of Kentucky met yesterday pursuant to appointment, and, after a magnificent day's work, adjourned to 9 o'clock this morning. The very late hour at which we write of course precludes anything further than the briefest allusion to its action, yet we must at all hazards dwell for an instant on a single feature of the proceedings which will be found in rounded fullness elsewhere in our paper to day.

The convention's nomination of Joshua F. Bell for the office of Governor is all things considered unquestionably the highest and most significant compliment ever paid to a citizen in Kentucky, not excepting the idolized and immortal Clay.

The convention, in the first place, was immense in numbers, and complete in representation, consisting of not less than two thousand delegates, in fair proportion from every section of the State. It was a perfect and grand embodiment of the idea of a convention.

In the second place, the convention was unequaled in point of character and of intellect. In this respect we confess it surpassed any popular body of equal size that we ever beheld. It was superlative. No other State in the Union, no other part of the world, not Kentucky herself, could possibly exceed it. It was strictly a convention of statesmen. A capable observer could easily have selected from the assemblage a council of three hundred or of six hundred men fit in all respects to govern an empire. In ability and in dignity the convention was not only an honor to Kentucky but an ornament to the republic.

In the third place, everybody knows that Mr. Bell, so far from seeking the nomination, receded from it sincerely and by might and main. Indeed, so earnest, frequent, and emphatic had Mr. B.'s disclaimers been that the representative of one delegation asked and for a moment insisted on some assurance that he would accept the honor if the convention thrust it upon him.

The convention itself however promptly supplied this assurance; for, finally, after that sort of exciting murmur which indicates the summoning of a cherished and unconquerable resolve, the nomination was conferred upon him by acclamation, and the joyous, triumphant acclaim surmounted by cheers upon cheers, the whole vast and distinguished assembly joining vehemently in the deafening applause.

It was a glorious and exulting moment for the convention and a proud one for Joshua F. Bell. Rarely in the walks of civil life does such a moment come to the most fortunate of the gifted and the great. It was a proud moment for him, but, proud as it was, a still prouder one awaits him next August, when he will plant the radiant standard which the conservatives of Kentucky now place in his hand in triumph on the capitol of the State which his eloquence will have redeemed and disenthralled.

Of the remaining names on the ticket adopted by the convention, we have at present time and space to say only a word. The entire ticket is a strong and splendid one. There is nothing weak or dim about it.

Alfred Allen, of Breckinridge, the nominee for the Lieutenant-Governorship, is one of the most whole-souled and high-souled men in the world, a happy and effective speaker, and a perfectly resistless electioneerer. He is invincible on the stump and off of it. No Democrat who comes in contact with Alfred Allen need steel his heart; Allen will steal it for him.

James Harlan is a lawyer of natural repute and a statesman without stain or blemish. The Union does not hold a sounder or a truer man. Like the unimpeached and unimpeachable nominees for the Auditorship and for the Presidency of the Board of Internal Improvements, he is the present incumbent of the office for which the convention has designated him, and, together with his brother incumbents, richly deserves and will certainly receive the honor of a re-election.

John B. Herndon, of Mason, is well known throughout a large section of the State, and will be equally well-known in the rest of it before the present canvass ends. He can't be well-known without being triumphant. He is one of that peculiar sort of candidates whom to know is to vote for and elect.

William I. Evans, of Barren, the candidate for the office of Superintendent of Public Instruction, is a cultivated and enlightened man, an early, consistent, and unwavering friend of our Common School System, and a most energetic and approved administrator of public trusts. He is distinguished especially for fidelity and purity of character, qualities as rare in aspirants for office as they are precious wherever found.

Daugherty R. White, of Clay, the nominee for the office of Treasurer, is able, honest, and intelligent. His integrity is altogether spotless.

The ticket, as a glance will suffice to show, is powerful in itself. It is not less powerful in the entire and cordial harmony with which it was presented and adopted. Every nomination was unanimous on the first ballot. The Covention eclipsed all other conventions ever held in Kentucky almost as greatly in the fine disinterested enthusiastic spirit of unity which pervaded it as in its size, talents and respectability. But we cannot extend these running comments further.

The Address and Platform put forth by the convention will be found in another part of this morning's Journal. They are both impregnable, and were adopted with the thrilling unanimity which marked the entire proceedings of the convention. We shall refer to them at length hereafter.

THE PRESIDENT AND CUBA.—A Washington letter-writer relates the following:

I have good reason to believe that while the President reports to congress that he has no official correspondence relating to or the possibility of acquiring Cuba by purchase, he is privately endeavoring to have it understood that he has private information to the effect that there is very good reason to anticipate the successful negotiation of a treaty to that end.

The story circulating is that the President has in his possession the names of quite a number of members of the Spanish Cortes some of whom, constituents of great influence, are favor the sale of Cuba as a wise measure of Spanish policy, and are quite desirous that the subject should be discussed in the Cortes with a view to having arguments presented which shall give them a basis to stand upon in breaking ground to behalf of the sale.

How the President became possessed of such information as this, provided it is reliable, it is difficult to conceive. Probably there is nothing of it, more than the opinion of our accomplished and astute Minister at Madrid—the Hon. Augustus Caesar Dodge.

We learn from the Buffalo Commercial Advertiser, that, when Mr. Buchanan was American Minister at the Court of St. James, he received from some Spanish resident at London a document relating to the acquisition of Cuba by the United States. This paper was handed by him to an American gentleman who was conversant with the Spanish language for translation. It was found to be a proposition on the part of the Spanish emissary or plotter to set on foot an intrigue with the Carlists in Spain, with a view of bringing that despicable faction into power. In consideration of the assistance which the United States might offer this project, it was assumed by the writer that the new Ministry thus brought in would consent to the cession of Cuba. A few million dollars spent in Spain and Cuba, in helping the already debauched Carlists were to be repaid by the much coveted prize of the "Pearl of the Antilles." This absurd proposition, which appears to have received the Minister quite favorably, has probably continued to revolve in his mind ever since it first found a lodgement there, and his request for thirty millions to negotiate was doubtless founded upon this cherished scheme of corrupting Spanish officials and bringing about a change of Ministry in Her Catholic Majesty's Government. That it is as absurd as it is corrupt and shameless, we need not say.

Some seem eager to take Cuba by force; but why be in a hurry? Cuba will surely be ours enough, if we let her alone. We needed Louisiana more than we now need Cuba, but we have gone to war for it, but we waited until it came at a cheap rate, without war. We needed Florida, and might have gone to war for that, but patience made the acquisition without war. We had, we admit, Texas, before waiting a long time; but the war was the fault of ours. The time will come when Cuba will fall to us, and the United States will be our own fault if it does not. Let manifest destiny shape it will do its work well, and its steps cannot be hastened.—Democrat.

There is a pretty fair sprinkling of truth in this. But, oh, how it contrasts with what the same writer said of Cuba during the Taylor and Fillmore Administrations! Then he was for having the island seized at once by force. He complained, that, under its existing government, it was a stench in the nostrils of the United States. He insisted that Spain, if permitted to retain it even for a year, should not be allowed to leave it right under our noses but required to sail it away into some distant part of the Atlantic or Pacific.

☞ The late fight between two Indiana Senators, Hoffren and Gooding, upon the floor of the Indiana Senate chamber, was a very contemptible affair. It seems that the men been contemplating the fight for several weeks and preparing for it. If they hadn't been a couple of cowards, they would have come together on the street or in some back-yards, instead of seeking their encounter in the midst of a crowded hall, where they knew they could not fail to create a terrible turmoil and get themselves separated before the occurrence of any serious damage.

☞ The N. Y. Journal of Commerce, an Administration organ, thinks the present condition of the public treasury sounds the encouraging to good morals. It congratulates the nation that official stealing is for a time at an end, there being nothing more to steal. We guess however that, even if they can't steal out of the treasury, they will do a large stealing business outside of it, and that, if they can find nothing anywhere to steal, the Eighth Commandment will be the only one of the ten that they will keep.

☞ The New Orleans papers complain that the bars at the mouth of the Mississippi are becoming a more formidable obstruction than ever. We guess New Orleans will have to let them down.

FATAL TERMINATION OF THE ACCIDENT AT LEBANON.—The young lady at Lebanon whose sad case we mentioned in our last issue, we are pained to learn, died yesterday morning at one o'clock. The youth, beauty, and high social position of Miss Shuck adds a peculiar sadness to the distressing accident. Just at the moment when she was to take the arm of him who was to be her guide and kind protector through life, the hand of death intervened and made her the bride of the tomb.

The particulars are as follow: The wedding was to have taken place at 11 o'clock on Monday morning and the happy company to have started to this city on the evening train. Just a few moments before the time for the ceremony, Mr. Thomas, the bridegroom, swung open the door of the chamber where he was alone with the bride, and the wind made by the movement blew her veil into the fire-place. Of course she was instantly enveloped in the flames. Mr. Thomas was so bewildered that he could render little or no assistance. The screams of the sufferer brought her father, sister, and several other persons to the top of the stairs, where she had gone in her excitement. Water and other means were used to extinguish the fire—but before it could be done she was dreadfully burned. After her wounds were dressed the ceremony was performed—but alas, the wedding and funeral were near together. She lingered in great suffering until Wednesday morning at one o'clock.

Her mother and sister are perfectly prostrated, and it is feared they may die. The whole community is in gloom.

Mr. John Shuck, the father of the deceased, is one of the most prominent lawyers in the central portion of the State. Mr. Thomas is also a young lawyer of fine promise. His agony of mind is intense.

☞ There was a very respectable attendance at the Masonic Temple on Monday night, to witness Dr. Stone's astonishing exhibitions of the mesmeric phenomena, and the audience seemed that he would repeat his experiments—for night more was received by the audience with marked satisfaction. Our readers will not have occasion to regret if they go to Masonic Temple, to-morrow night. The Doctor's class meets to-night we understand. A large number have already applied for instructions in this strange science.

PICCOLOMINI.—On Friday next, the 25th inst the most beautiful and one of the most eminent of living vocalists makes her debut in this city. She can fancy the flattering which the announcement has already caused in the hearts of numerous readers. Beauty, fashion, elegance, will alike contribute to greet her, and we may safely predict a degree of excitement unparalleled since the visit of Jenny Lind. In Italy, France, England, Ireland, and Scotland, her career has been a complete succession of triumphs. Her great art is her extreme naturalness, or, as pointed out by the brilliant feuilletoniste of La Constitutionnel, who pronounces the distinguishing characteristic of M'lle. Piccolomini to be "soul, soul, soul!" from which he infers: "Thence her real success; thence her real power, and thence the incontestable influence she exercises over the public."

It is unnecessary to remind our readers that the sale of seats commences this (Wednesday) morning at D. P. Faulds & Co.'s music store, Main street.

THE HOME CONCERT.—We are assured by those informed that the success of the concert to be given for the benefit of St. John's Church by amateurs of this city is now beyond a matter of doubt, as many of our most delightful vocalists and performers have volunteered to aid in a cause so worthy of assistance, and many who otherwise could not be induced to appear have most cordially consented to do so. When the ladies' hearts and voices are enlisted in anything there cannot be a failure. Thursday, March 3d, has been selected as the evening for the concert at Masonic Temple.

☞ Prof. Brittan, who astonished his audience on Saturday night last by the presentation of new psychological wonders, at the Masonic Temple, will give another public seance at that place to-night. The Professor's experiments were new to a Louisville audience and startling as revelations of mental power. He dispatched his thoughts to his subjects without speech and sometimes without physical contact; and with a glass of magnetic water caused a lady to sleep so soundly that neither the thunder storm that was raging outside nor the repeated discharges from a revolver—held directly over her head—disturbed a single nerve in her body. This will probably be the last lecture on the subject this week. The Professor has his private rooms at the National, where he may be consulted during the day. See advertisement in another column.

POLICE PROCEEDINGS.—Tuesday, February 22.—Robert Harrison, f. n. c., attempting to commit a rape on Kate Kertick. Committed to answer.

Sarah Ryan, Henry Ires, Elizabeth Laing, David Martin, Mary Quinn, Lucy Hamilton, and James Whalen, and Charles Miller, drunk and disorderly conduct. Laing gave bail. Martin was discharged, Miller's own bail was taken, and all others were sent to the workhouse in default of giving bail.

Two petty larcenies, Lena Bevan vs. Kate Younger, were dismissed at defendant's costs.

☞ Mr Spencer requests us to say that in addition to his sale of harness, hardware, dry goods and other articles advertised for to day, he will also sell a lot of shoes, pocket-cutlery, pistol guns, rollers and cranks.

☞ Capt. Watkins' company tired thirteen guns yesterday morning, and thirty-three at noon, in honor of the birth-day of Washington, and fourteen tremendous ones at half-past four, P. M., in honor of the ticket nominated by the Opposition Convention.

REMARKS.—Day nearly overcast throughout the day.

RIVER AND STEAMBOAT MATTERS.

Contrary to expectations the river still continued to rise yesterday, at the rate of half an inch per hour. At Pittsburg it is falling rapidly, but the flatboats from above report the Kanawha, Big Sandy, Scioto, and Muskingum still rising rapidly. The weather yesterday was beautiful. Boats encountered much difficulty in finding a landing. The J. B. Ford came in from Wheeling. We saw the Captain out prospecting where to und a place to discharge his freight.

The Pacific came in about 1 o'clock, and found a first rate landing at the foot of Eighth street, where she is discharging and receiving her freight. The H. Bridges and Tishomingo found landing near Tenth street.

The John Raine and Woodford left for New Orleans last evening. The latter only arrived night before last, but owing to her difficulty of landing she left almost night.

The Pacific for New Orleans.—This magnificent steamer will leave for New Orleans this evening from the foot of Eighth street. Her accommodations are of the first order. Capt. McGill and the clerks, Messrs. Hullihay and Carroll, are gentlemen with whom it is a pleasure to travel. They devote every attention to passengers and see them well provided for. We are indebted to them for the usual favors.

The good steamer Antelope, Captain Brown, Mr. Sage clerk, will leave for Memphis and Arkansas river to-day.

The Southerner for Memphis.—This steamer is so great a favorite with travelers that the mere announcement will suffice to secure all the travel to points for which she is destined. Capt. Triplett, a courteous officer, commander, and Messrs. Archer and McMichael, both very popular are the clerks. We thank them for late papers forwarded by rail from Cairo.

H. Bridges.—This steamer, notwithstanding fogs, storms, and the heavy ice, is making her trips with great punctuality. She will leave from the foot of Tenth street this evening for Bowling Green.

The Tishomingo.—Capt. Sitan has resigned the command of this steamer and Capt. Hamilton succeeds him. The T. will leave for Henderson at the usual hour this evening. Her clerk, Mr. Bushnell, has our thanks for the manifest.

Ho, for the East.—The mail steamer Jacob Strader, Capt. Dittman, is the Cincinnati mailboat to-day. She is the very perfection of a steamboat and Dr. Darning and Messrs. Topping and Gaugh are model clerks.

☞ Mr. George L. Myles requests us to say to holders of Hardin county bonds, who prefer having their coupons paid to them in the city instead of in New York, that he will pay them in this city on and after the 20th of March. They can be left with Mr. William E. Curd, No. 421 Main street, where Mr. Myles will call for that purpose.

The most serious interruption, though happily unattended by personal injury to collins, stock or permanent way, has been to the traffic of the Ohio & Mississippi and Indianapolis & Chicago Railroads, by the falling down of the track of the former between Lawrenceburg and this city, which is the portion interfered with by the flood.

The steamer Sapphire was chartered on yesterday by the Ohio & Mississippi Co. to run between Cincinnati, Lawrenceburg, and Aurora, so that there will hereafter be a daily line of steamers between Cincinnati and Aurora, and passengers on the Indianapolis and the St. Louis road.

The trestle-work and embankment of the O. & M. have sustained no injury that cannot be repaired in less than a week's time after the waters are subsided.

LATER FROM YUCATAN.—Rise of Races continued—Abolition of the Duties on Corn.—From the steamship Mexico, at Havana from Sisal, a Nova Orita, we have several days later advices from Merida, although there is no mail by the Tennessee to the 20th ult., from Merida or Campeachy. We have had reports of an insurrection in a sept the preferred name it) continued. The whole of the Department of Yucatan had been invaded by them anew, and the white race threatened in turn with external extinction.

The Government has, therefore, resolved to prosecute the war to the end. A proclamation has been issued to that effect. The people have been called upon to take organizations exist, and elsewhere, as on the frontiers, every liable to be summoned, arms have been distributed to the inhabitants. The war is threatened now to be one of extermination to the whole Indian race.

The strange and inhuman war will, of course, as the first result, put an end to agricultural pursuits throughout that unhappy peninsula, and it is probable that it will become for (forever this, somuch so from the present scarcity, the Governor has by a special decree, dated January the first abolished "all duties whatsoever, municipal as well as national, no forces corn imported into the State by the port of Sisal, for the space of four months, counting from the date of the decree."

Also, "all woods, national as well as foreign, importation into the State, shall be free of tonnage dues for the time specified, provided they have, at the local, 16 tons of corn, of by quintals each, imported in on board."

TO THE PUBLIC.

I CALL attention to the notice of the Peoria Insurance Company, from the Chicago Daily Press and Tribune, which adds to the already unanimous testimony of those who know what they say to be true. Such evidence must put to flight the petty malice and the Peoria Insurance Company by some mauvious slanderers of our city. The Company has a paid capital of $300,000, and a surplus of $52,500. This surely is sufficient guarantee to all who will insure. Its business is very large and reliable. Reference to the only bona fide Louisville for the last 12 months in the card of Wm. Monsellan. I hereby invite those who wish insurance to give me a call. The agency is not under the control of the underwriters or the city, but free and unfranchised. Risks taken on my own judgment, and if any loss occurs it will be paid promptly. Rates of policies issued and ten per cent premium returned on all business to be settled by sixty days' notice.

JOHN B. McELVAINE,
Agent of the Peoria Fire and Marine Ins. Co.
At the office of J. B. McElvaine & Son, No. 252 Main st., one door below Seventh.
Louisville, February 21, 1859.

A CARD.

OUR Tobacco factory was very near being destroyed by fire on the night of the 19th inst. about 12 o'clock, on Main, near Sixth street. The roof is being partially burned, our leaves under pipes were removed in the street, and were partially damaged by the water and rough handling of the brave Mr. J. B. McElvaine, the agent of the Peoria Insurance Company, who very promptly and satisfactorily had the loss repaired, &c. Arbitrators were mutually chosen, the damages estimated fairly arranged, and he has this day paid the amount in full, although liable for but a small portion of the loss from the fact, and for removing the stock out and back into the factory. We take pleasure in giving the name of the agent and as the part of the company in paying honest. I hopes we like Peoria offer succeed to a good share of business in our city. WILLIAM MUSSELMAN.
Louisville, January 20, 1859.

[From the Chicago Daily Free Press and Tribune, Feb. 12th, 1859.]

THE PEORIA MARINE AND FIRE INSURANCE COMPANY. It is with pride and pleasure that we ask the attention of our readers to the statement of the company in out column this morning. It is a fair and truthful exhibit of the condition of any home company that we have ever seen. The company is most fortunate in its officers and one of the best-known companies. Such an array of assets, amounting in all to $329,356 24, shows most conclusively that the Peoria company is not an infant in age, but a well matured as any other, no matter where located. As it regards the management and liberality of settlement of its losses, no company has a better reputation. The Peoria Company is doing business in most of the Western and Southern States, including Wisconsin, Michigan, Indiana, Missouri, and Kentucky, where it is obliged to file an annual statement of its condition and to comply with the same laws that are required of all foreign companies. The fact that the company can comply with the laws of those States, which are regarded as very onerous by many companies, is a fair proof that it has the necessary capital, and as regards wise economy and close management, is fully entitled to the same provision.

The officers and directors of this company are men of well known ability and unblemished standing, and the success of the company proves that they have the requisite ability to manage the affairs of such an institution. Its cashier features in the company, which places its ability and responsibility beyond a doubt. In fact, in the short time of its charter, if by any means the capital of $300,000 should be impaired, it is a simple dollar, and should any policy be issued thereafter, the Directors render themselves personally liable for any loss that may occur. As the Director would not care to incur such a responsibility, and even if they did, as their aggregate wealth is quite large, the policy holder has an extra good security and safety by this provision of the charter, which exists in but few if in any other Company. Under the excellent supervision as L. Augustus Wright, its efficient and rapidly growing agent in the city, the company has done a large and very profitable business for the past year, and as it has and believe it will be still increased from yearly year. We are decidedly in favor of patronizing our home company when we know them to be sound and well managed like the Peoria Marine and Fire Insurance Company for several years, so that we can speak from what we preach, and we cord ally commend it to our friends and fellow-citizens.—Journal. fe21 d

OPPOSITION STATE CONVENTION.

LOUISVILLE, Tuesday, Feb. 22, 1859.

The convention was called to order at 10 o'clock A. M., by Judge Bullock, upon whose motion John B. Huston of Clark county was selected as temporary chairman and Hunton Dudgeon, as secretary.

On taking the chair Mr. Huston said he had no intention to make a speech beyond thanking the convention for the unexpected honor extended to him. They were here for business, and he hoped there would be more done than talking.

Upon motion of Hamilton Pope, a committee consisting of one from each Congressional district of the State was named by the chairman to report officers for the permanent organization of the convention, as follows:

1. John McGoodwin,	6. Green Adams,
2 Benj. Berry,	7 Hamilton Pope,
3 J. W. Ritter,	8 G. o. S. Shanklin,
4 Jos. S. Bledsoe,	9 Wm S Bowles,
5 Joseph Cable,	10 John W. Menzies.

The roll of counties was called over, and delegations were found in attendance from eighty-four counties.

The Chairman stated that the hall was fund inadequate to accommodate the delegates, as hundreds who had no right on the floor were on the stairways and in the streets, unable to obtain admittance. He hoped those who were acquainted with the facilities of the city would make arrangements for some larger apartment, or else he should have to suggest an adjournment to the Court House square.

Judge Bullock assured the Convention that the Louisville delegation would do everything in their power to procure sufficient accommodations and for that purpose he hoped, when an adjournment was made, it would be to meet again at the Hall of the Mechanics Institute—the largest in the city, and ample he thought for all purposes.

Gen. Leslie Combs came forward and said at this important state of the proceedings he felt a subject much at heart, which was not political. He desired to call attention to the claims of the old soldiers and the Homestead Bill before Congress, and referred them to a most eloquent speech, showing that the House of Representatives had passed a bill when the Senate defeated. He desired an expression of sympathy from the large assemblage present, to show that those who fought and bled battles were not forgotten. He therefore offered the following resolution, which was unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That while we take counsel together to preserve inviolate our free institutions, handed down to us by our forefathers' fathers, it is our duty to remember the cause which they staked their freedom on, in the war of 1812—emphatically styled the second war of independence—and we therefore commend the few surviving old veterans and the widows of those who are dead, to the favorable consideration of Congress.

The committee on permanent organization reported the following officers, who were unanimously elected:

President—R. P. Letcher.

Vice Presidents—A. Hadley, Ed. R. W. Henry, George C. Rogers, William B. Allen, H. Hickman of Logan, James H. Embry, Hon. W. I. Bullock, Dr. Stephen Trigg, Dr. Samuel I. Wilson, and Hon. Joseph H. Hoskins.

Secretaries—A. G. Hodges, D. C. Wickliffe, Saml Davis, U. S. Smith.

On motion of Mr. Wickliffe, B. Duncan was added to the list of secretaries.

The venerable Chairman, on taking his seat, made a brief address, in which he referred to the cheering sight of so vast an assemblage before him. He had come to old Kentucky to see once more the spirit of '98 and '12 which he knew was to be equal. It was glorious, it was refreshing, it was gladdening to see such a body of men all struggling to serve and save their country. The zeal which had brought them together was a guarantee that the people knew the dangers which imperiled them, and were preparing a remedy. He had never in his old age felt so happy as on the present occasion. Before and all matter for party considerations was the Democracy—the spirit of our forefathers animated them, who, though whipped one day, conquered the next, and fought on, Providence guiding them because they were right, and they were right because they fought on, Providence guiding them because they were right. He drew a vivid picture of the administration of Mr. Buchanan, its imbecility, prodigality, and recklessness, and concluded by a stirring appeal to the ability, patriotism and virtue of the Democracy of other days, and the great principles which, though crushed out for a time, were not forgotten, but lived in the hearts of every true patriot. He wished that he could see the whole State rally in the campaign of 1859, that he might be there to help in the coming canvass and strike one more blow for the integrity of the Union, one and forever, now and inseparable.

On motion of Garrett Davis, a committee of twelve, one for each electoral vote of the State, was selected to draft resolutions to be submitted to the meeting. The chair appointed the following gentlemen:

Garrett Davis, of Bourbon, } Senatorial.
Alfred Allen, of Breckinridge, }
1. Q. Q. Quigley, of McCracken.
2. James S. Jackson, of Hickman.
3 John W. Ritter, of Barren.
4. W. C. Anderson, of Boyle.
5. Philip B. Thompson, of Mercer.
6. Green Adams, of Franklin;
7. S. S. Nicholas, of Jefferson.
8. George Robertson, of Fayette.
9. W. H. Wadsworth, of Mason.
10 John W. Menzies of Kenton.

At the suggestion of Garrett Davis it was requested that all resolutions and suggestions relative to them to the impression of any member of the Convention should be referred to the above committee.

Mr. Wickliffe moved the appointment of a committee of twelve, to report the names of candidates for State offices to the action of the convention, which was adopted. John W. Menzies, in motion of Thomas Todd, of Shelby, who thought it had not received proper consideration. He was for open nomination from the body of the convention, and did not think the machinery of a committee would suit the people.

Gibson Mallory warmly seconded the reconsideration, for he saw danger in the matter. He wanted to hear the wishes of every section of the State. He wanted the name of every favorite of every section presented to the body and then we could select the strongest and wish them go before the country.

Mr. Wickliffe disclaimed any intention to destroy the liberty of choice—the object of the proposed committee was not final but subject to the approval of the delegates, and it could not offer names acceptable to the convention unless it was authorized to do so.

He had no partialities to gratify and did not even care to be on the committee should it be selected.

After some further debate the motion was reconsidered, and then laid on the table.

Mr. Brown, of Shelby, moved that the Convention proceed to make nominations

Judge Bullock thought the delegates were not at present in a condition to make nominations. The committee on resolutions had retired to perform their duties and would not report until after the dinner recess. He thought the intermediate time might be profitably employed in consultations among the different delegations, who had not yet had the opportunity of conferring together. They had come up from all parts of the State, and it was proper that a full and fair understanding on all subjects should be made, after which all would be prepared to act definitely and wisely.

Mr. Brown acknowledged the force of the arguments of Judge Bullock, and withdrew his motion.

John B. Huston proposed as a basis of representation, upon which the delegations should vote, the Fillmore electoral vote, one for every 100 votes cast, and for every fraction of 50, and every county to have at least one vote.

William B. Kincaid said the rule would be impolitic in its operation for a convention of the united opposition to Democracy, as many counties were represented was not confined to Whig or American, but embraced even some who had voted for Mr. Buchanan. He, therefore, suggested as a basis the representative strength of the counties in the Legislature.

This gave rise to some conversational debate between the movers of the two suggestions, which was shared also by Robert Mallory, Garrett Davis and others, when Mr. Kinney, of Henderson, in a very neat and stirring speech, proposed as a substitute, that the basis should be the entire Presidential vote, so that the whole State should have a voice in the convention. This was rounded by Judge Bullock in some forcible remarks, in which he was warmly applauded, and the substitute of Mr. Kinney was then adopted.

On motion of Mr. Finnell, the convention all turned until 2 o'clock.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

The Convention reassembled at 2 o'clock, and on motion of James Harlan, the following was adopted:

Resolved, That a State Central Committee, to consist of five members, be appointed by the Chair to hold its sessions at Frankfort. It shall be the duty of said committee to distribute documents, correspond with County Committees, and generally obtain for the organization of the opponents of the present Democratic party, and fill any vacancy that may occur in the ticket selected by this Convention.

Pursuant to the above resolution at Louisville and Danville were voted down.

A committee was appointed to call upon the Committee on Resolutions and ascertain when they would be ready to report. During their absence Gen. Leslie Combs and Wm. H. Finley, addressed the Convention.

It having been reported that the Committee on Resolutions were not prepared to report, Judge Bullock moved to proceed to the nomination, which was agreed to.

John W. Finnell nominated as a candidate for Governor JOSHUA F. BELL, of Boyle, which was adopted by acclamation.

On the announcement, Mr. Finnell, in reply to a question whether Mr. Bell would accept if nominated, stated that he knew him to be a sound and loyal citizen and a friend of the country and of the Constitution, and as such he cannot but dare and refuse such an endorsement as we propose to give him

Col. Rankin stated that he had conversed with Mr. Bell on yesterday, and that, although there were family reasons which had heretofore induced him to decline the race, still the voice of this convention could not be withstood. Mr. Bell was as modest as he is eloquent, and he could not say he would accept a nomination before it had been tendered.

Mr. Preston, of Clark, said he could endorse all that was said of Mr. Bell; he had no objection to eulogy or otherwise to which he would not assent in his person, but he wanted to know his position. Clark county was for Bell if he would accept, but not for him if he would not accept. It had been stated that letters from Mr. Bell were in the possession of members of the convention. There had been a unanimity of feeling in reference to his nomination throughout the entire State, he of course was aware of the fact, and his friends here must know his intentions.

Mr. Harlan said the gentleman representing Mr Bell's county, and probably knowing his views, was about as near a member of the committee on Resolutions, and had no voice or agency in these proceedings.

Mr. Finnell repeated that he could undertake to say that Mr. Bell would not refuse. He was a true and loyal Old-line Whig, and whatever office you impose upon him he will execute. His acceptance depends only on the unanimity of the vote by which he is nominated.

The question was then put, and Mr. Bell was declared the nominee for Governor.

Messrs. Letcher, W. L. Bullock, James Harlan, Garrett Davis, and John W. Finnell were appointed a committee to inform Mr Bell of his nomination.

The following gentlemen were then placed in nomination for the office of Lieutenant Governor:

Alfred H. Allen, of Breckinridge.
George T. Edwards, of Logan;
Leslie Combs, of Fayette;
John S. Williams, of Clark;
W. C. Bullock, of Shelby;
John S. Macfarland, of Davie.
—— Bristow, of Clark.

Messrs Bristow, Combs, and Williams declined, Messrs Edwards, Bullock, and Macfarland were withdrawn, and Alfred H. Allen unanimously nominated for Lieutenant Governor.

The following nominations were made for Attorney General:

James Harlan, of Franklin;
John E. Heaton, of Clark;
W. R. Kinney, of Henderson.

Mr. Heaton declared his unwillingness to run, and Mr. Kinney was withdrawn, whereupon the nomination of James Harlan, as Attorney General, was made unanimous.

Mr. Harlan being called upon, addressed the convention. He said he had occupied the office for 8 or 10 years, part of the time under the glorious old constitution of 1799. It was one of great labor and little compensation, and was not a position to be eagerly sought, but his principle was to always do whatever his political friends required of him, and he, therefore, accepted the nomination. He knew something of the Democratic party, and had had some experience in looking into its concerns. Twenty years ago, as Chairman of a Congressional Committee, he had made investigations in the city of New York, and discovered one Democratic office holder, Samuel Swartwout to be a defaulter to the amount of $1,250,000, and another, William M. Price, to the amount of $80,000. Then, there was Boyd, a Register of the Land Office in Mississippi, who took some $200,000, and when Levi Woodbury, then Secretary of the Treasury, sent an agent down there to endeavor to collect or save some of it, the agent was sent back to the Administration, advising it Cheap Bond in office, for if, a new man was put in his place, he would steal as much more. The Democratic party had inaugurated a system of plunder which had brought the treasury to bankruptcy. If we expect to beat one Democratic next August we must be the right in one mind, they have the money and will spend it lavishly. He believed the masses of all political parties were honest, but the leaders of the Democratic party were as corrupt a set of fellows as ever had possession of a government.

Thomas S. Page, of Frankfort, was then unanimously re-nominated for Auditor of Public Accounts, by acclamation

For Register of the Land Office, the following gentlemen were placed in nomination:

Robert Fish, of Rockcastle;
John B. Herndon, of Mason;
John H. Caldwell, of McCracken;
Richard Sutpe, of Franklin;
Reuge B. McKee, of Pulaski.
Mat C. Nesbitt, of Jefferson.

All the other candidates having declined, or been withdrawn, John B. Herndon was unanimously nominated as Register of the Land Office.

Alfred H. Allen was called upon and said he had not gone to be nominated, but he felt placed in nomination as a candidate for Lieutenant Governor, but he regarded it as a sacred duty to accept any position to which he was designated by his friends; that man was a traitor who did not answer the call made upon him. Though distinctive to the toil and turmoil of political life, he accepted the office with pride if not with pleasure, and he promised to devote his time to the achievement of a more glorious victory than the use of all his zealous though humble efforts.

John H. Hendon also spoke briefly, thanking the Convention for the honor conferred, which he appreciated according from a lady strong in numbers and talents, and invincible in its integrity of purpose.

For Superintendent of Public Instruction, the following nominations were made:

Dinitas M. Tyler, of Trigg;
B. P. Henderson, of Jefferson;
Wm. D. Evans of Boone;
John B. Matthews, of Fayette;
A. C. Drury, of Knox;
B. A. Brown, of Christian.

The ballot was taken without off ering a choice, Mr Evans having 376 votes and Mr. Henderson 386.

Before a second ballot was ordered all the gentlemen declined or were withdrawn in favor of Wesley D. Evans, who was declared unanimously nominated.

For President of the Board of Internal Improvements the following gentlemen were placed in nomination:

John Speed, of Butler;
R. P. Haggard, of Cumberland;
Leslie Combs, of Fayette
After some interchange of opinions between Leslie Combs, Messrs. Combs and Speed were withdrawn, and R. P. Haggard was re-nominated to the office he has held with such ability and fidelity.

For Treasurer the following nominations were made:

William B. Allen, of Green;
Hardy White, of Ohio;
Matt Adams, of Knox;
Phil Lee, of Bullitt.

One ballot was had, and D. Hardy White having received a majority of votes, his nomination was made unanimous.

Resolutions were offered and adopted expressive of the thanks of the Convention; and the people of the State generally to Andrew McKinley and John D. Matthews for the ability and fidelity with which they have respectively performed the duties of Register of the Land Office and Superintendent of Public Instruction.

The Committee on Resolutions not being yet prepared to report, on motion an adjournment was made till half past 8 o'clock this evening.

NIGHT SESSION.

Upon the reassemblage of the Convention at half past 8 o'clock, Garrett Davis, from the Committee on Resolutions, stated that the duty delegated to them had been performed with perfect unity and harmony. There were some impediments at first; there was some difference of opinion on the question what was proper to present for this great Convention to adopt, no difference of opinion as to the great and enormous misdeeds of the general government, no difference of opinion as to the duty of the opposition but there was some discrepancy of opinion when seeking to embody them. When, in the midst of our struggle, it was reported to us what nominations you had made it was hailed with universal gratulation, hope and confidence inspired us, and a spirit of concession, a feeling of conscious victory, and a unity of purpose, brought us together as one man.

The address and series of resolutions of the committee were then read by Judge Nicholas, as follows:

ADDRESS AND RESOLUTIONS.

This convention of delegates, to organize a State opposition to the further rule of the self styled Democratic party in this commonwealth, an opposition by all good men throughout the nation, will state some of their objections to that party:

1. Is at essentially a Human Party.

It begs to its embrace many avowed disunionists, who if they do not control, have great influence over the party; who, by courting the spirit of the slave question, for sinister purposes, are rapidly driving the whole nation into two great sectional parties, as the precursor of disunion.

The modern Democracy, at the time of its organization, found the nation comparatively free from sectional strife. The feeling of patriotism and loyalty to the Union prevailed throughout the nation. Disunion existed but in a few hearts, if harbored in the breasts of a few, it was carefully concealed. Now avowed disunionists may be found in every locality. Under the rule of this party, all real patriotism and love of country seem to have passed away in our countrymen. Its later career has tended more and more to nothing so much as angry sectional strife, engendering the bitterest personal animosities. We have factions in the North and in the South openly denouncing the Union in the severest terms that hatred can invent, and avowing its destruction as their principle.

In the recent Presidential election, the resolves, public speeches, and published letters of many of the leaders of the party left little room to doubt that there was an organized treasonable conspiracy to sunder the government and break up the Union by armed force, if the election went against their party. One of the Governors published his intention, to that event, to march on Washington, seize the government by force, and to meet the opposition of sixty thousand Union men, by the legions by arming her slaves. Another prominent leader, who is now enjoying a seat in the Senate with the full approval of the party, in a published letter declared that any resistance to the election by the Union men of South Carolina should be crushed by "the swift attendum of regulars enough here," yet it must be conceded that this new theory would render them as important to restrain legislative power as the common law, which here, and in England, only gives legislative permission.

That the modern Legislative Democracy, through its President and other leaders, openly avows this new creed treasonable to the cause of civil liberty, of which it boasts the originality, of denying all sanctity or value to constitutions, and vesting all with that of legislative permissive right.

The Committee on Resolutions not being yet prepared to report, on motion an adjournment was made till half past 8 o'clock this evening.

Upon the reassemblage of the Convention at half past 8 o'clock, Garrett Davis, from the Committee on Resolutions, stated that the duty delegated to them had been performed with perfect unity and harmony. This convention of delegates, to organize a State opposition to the further rule of the self styled Democratic party in this commonwealth, an opposition by all good men throughout the nation, will state some of their objections to that party:

1. Is at essentially a Human Party.

It begs to its embrace many avowed disunionists, who if they do not control, have great influence over the party; who, by courting the spirit of the slave question, for sinister purposes, are rapidly driving the whole nation into two great sectional parties, as the precursor of disunion.

The modern Democracy, at the time of its organization, found the nation comparatively free from sectional strife. The feeling of patriotism and loyalty to the Union prevailed throughout the nation. Disunion existed but in a few hearts, if harbored in the breasts of a few, it was carefully concealed. Now avowed disunionists may be found in every locality. Under the rule of this party, all real patriotism and love of country seem to have passed away in our countrymen. Its later career has tended more and more to nothing so much as angry sectional strife, engendering the bitterest personal animosities. We have factions in the North and in the South openly denouncing the Union in the severest terms that hatred can invent, and avowing its destruction as their principle.

In the recent Presidential election, the resolves, public speeches, and published letters of many of the leaders of the party left little room to doubt that there was an organized treasonable conspiracy to sunder the government and break up the Union by armed force, if the election went against their party. One of the Governors published his intention, to that event, to march on Washington, seize the government by force, and to meet the opposition of sixty thousand Union men, by the legions by arming her slaves. Another prominent leader, who is now enjoying a seat in the Senate with the full approval of the party, in a published letter declared that any resistance to the election by the Union men of South Carolina should be crushed by "the swift attendum of regulars enough here," yet it must be conceded that this new theory would render them as important to restrain legislative power as the common law, which here, and in England, only gives legislative permission.

That the modern Legislative Democracy, through its President and other leaders, openly avows this new creed treasonable to the cause of civil liberty, of which it boasts the originality, of denying all sanctity or value to constitutions, and vesting all with that of legislative permissive right.

That this gave rise to some conversational debate between the movers of the two suggestions, which was shared also by Robert Mallory, Garrett Davis and others, when Mr. Kinney, of Henderson, in a very neat and stirring speech, proposed as a substitute, that the basis should be the entire Presidential vote, so that the whole State should have a voice in the convention. This was rounded by Judge Bullock in some forcible remarks, in which he was warmly applauded, and the substitute of Mr. Kinney was then adopted.

On motion of Mr. Finnell, the convention all turned until 2 o'clock.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

The Convention reassembled at 2 o'clock, and on motion of James Harlan, the following was adopted:

Resolved, That a State Central Committee, to consist of five members, be appointed by the Chair to hold its sessions at Frankfort. It shall be the duty of said committee to distribute documents, correspond with County Committees, and generally obtain for the organization of the opponents of the present Democratic party, and fill any vacancy that may occur in the ticket selected by this Convention.

Pursuant to the above resolution at Louisville and Danville were voted down.

A committee was appointed to call upon the Committee on Resolutions and ascertain when they would be ready to report. During their absence Gen. Leslie Combs and Wm. H. Finley, addressed the Convention.

It having been reported that the Committee on Resolutions were not prepared to report, Judge Bullock moved to proceed to the nomination, which was agreed to.

John W. Finnell nominated as a candidate for Governor JOSHUA F. BELL, of Boyle, which was adopted by acclamation.

On the announcement, Mr. Finnell, in reply to a question whether Mr. Bell would accept if nominated, stated that he knew him to be a sound and loyal citizen and a friend of the country and of the Constitution, and as such he cannot but dare and refuse such an endorsement as we propose to give him

Col. Rankin stated that he had conversed with Mr. Bell on yesterday, and that, although there were family reasons which had heretofore induced him to decline the race, still the voice of this convention could not be withstood. Mr. Bell was as modest as he is eloquent, and he could not say he would accept a nomination before it had been tendered.

Mr. Preston, of Clark, said he could endorse all that was said of Mr. Bell; he had no objection to eulogy or otherwise to which he would not assent in his person, but he wanted to know his position. Clark county was for Bell if he would accept, but not for him if he would not accept. It had been stated that letters from Mr. Bell were in the possession of members of the convention. There had been a unanimity of feeling in reference to his nomination throughout the entire State, he of course was aware of the fact, and his friends here must know his intentions.

Mr. Harlan said the gentleman representing Mr Bell's county, and probably knowing his views, was about as near a member of the committee on Resolutions, and had no voice or agency in these proceedings.

Mr. Finnell repeated that he could undertake to say that Mr. Bell would not refuse. He was a true and loyal Old-line Whig, and whatever office you impose upon him he will execute. His acceptance depends only on the unanimity of the vote by which he is nominated.

The question was then put, and Mr. Bell was declared the nominee for Governor.

Messrs. Letcher, W. L. Bullock, James Harlan, Garrett Davis, and John W. Finnell were appointed a committee to inform Mr Bell of his nomination.

The following gentlemen were then placed in nomination for the office of Lieutenant Governor:

Alfred H. Allen, of Breckinridge.
George T. Edwards, of Logan;
Leslie Combs, of Fayette;
John S. Williams, of Clark;
W. C. Bullock, of Shelby;
John S. Macfarland, of Davie.
—— Bristow, of Clark.

Messrs Bristow, Combs, and Williams declined, Messrs Edwards, Bullock, and Macfarland were withdrawn, and Alfred H. Allen unanimously nominated for Lieutenant Governor.

The following nominations were made for Attorney General:

James Harlan, of Franklin;
John E. Heaton, of Clark;
W. R. Kinney, of Henderson.

Mr. Heaton declared his unwillingness to run, and Mr. Kinney was withdrawn, whereupon the nomination of James Harlan, as Attorney General, was made unanimous.

Mr. Harlan being called upon, addressed the convention. He said he had occupied the office for 8 or 10 years, part of the time under the glorious old constitution of 1799. It was one of great labor and little compensation, and was not a position to be eagerly sought, but his principle was to always do whatever his political friends required of him, and he, therefore, accepted the nomination. He knew something of the Democratic party, and had had some experience in looking into its concerns. Twenty years ago, as Chairman of a Congressional Committee, he had made investigations in the city of New York, and discovered one Democratic office holder, Samuel Swartwout to be a defaulter to the amount of $1,250,000, and another, William M. Price, to the amount of $80,000. Then, there was Boyd, a Register of the Land Office in Mississippi, who took some $200,000, and when Levi Woodbury, then Secretary of the Treasury, sent an agent down there to endeavor to collect or save some of it, the agent was sent back to the Administration, advising it Cheap Bond in office, for if, a new man was put in his place, he would steal as much more. The Democratic party had inaugurated a system of plunder which had brought the treasury to bankruptcy. If we expect to beat one Democratic next August we must be the right in one mind, they have the money and will spend it lavishly. He believed the masses of all political parties were honest, but the leaders of the Democratic party were as corrupt a set of fellows as ever had possession of a government.

Thomas S. Page, of Frankfort, was then unanimously re-nominated for Auditor of Public Accounts, by acclamation

For Register of the Land Office, the following gentlemen were placed in nomination:

Robert Fish, of Rockcastle;
John B. Herndon, of Mason;
John H. Caldwell, of McCracken;
Richard Sutpe, of Franklin;
Reuge B. McKee, of Pulaski.
Mat C. Nesbitt, of Jefferson.

All the other candidates having declined, or been withdrawn, John B. Herndon was unanimously nominated as Register of the Land Office.

Alfred H. Allen was called upon and said he had not gone to be nominated, but he felt placed in nomination as a candidate for Lieutenant Governor, but he regarded it as a sacred duty to accept any position to which he was designated by his friends; that man was a traitor who did not answer the call made upon him. Though distinctive to the toil and turmoil of political life, he accepted the office with pride if not with pleasure, and he promised to devote his time to the achievement of a more glorious victory than the use of all his zealous though humble efforts.

John H. Hendon also spoke briefly, thanking the Convention for the honor conferred, which he appreciated according from a lady strong in numbers and talents, and invincible in its integrity of purpose.

For Superintendent of Public Instruction, the following nominations were made:

Dinitas M. Tyler, of Trigg;
B. P. Henderson, of Jefferson;
Wm. D. Evans of Boone;
John B. Matthews, of Fayette;
A. C. Drury, of Knox;
B. A. Brown, of Christian.

The ballot was taken without off ering a choice, Mr Evans having 376 votes and Mr. Henderson 386.

Before a second ballot was ordered all the gentlemen declined or were withdrawn in favor of Wesley D. Evans, who was declared unanimously nominated.

For President of the Board of Internal Improvements the following gentlemen were placed in nomination:

John Speed, of Butler;
R. P. Haggard, of Cumberland;
Leslie Combs, of Fayette
After some interchange of opinions between d. Leslie Combs, Messrs. Combs and Speed were withdrawn, and R. P. Haggard was re-nominated to the office he has held with such ability and fidelity.

For Treasurer the following nominations were made:

William B. Allen, of Green;
Hardy White, of Ohio;
Matt Adams, of Knox;
Phil Lee, of Bullitt.

One ballot was had, and D. Hardy White having received a majority of votes, his nomination was made unanimous.

Resolutions were offered and adopted expressive of the thanks of the Convention; and the people of the State generally to Andrew McKinley and John D. Matthews for the ability and fidelity with which they have respectively performed the duties of Register of the Land Office and Superintendent of Public Instruction.

The Committee on Resolutions not being yet prepared to report, on motion an adjournment was made till half past 8 o'clock this evening.

NIGHT SESSION.

Upon the reassemblage of the Convention at half past 8 o'clock, Garrett Davis, from the Committee on Resolutions, stated that the duty delegated to them had been performed with perfect unity and harmony. There were some impediments at first; there was some difference of opinion on the question what was proper to present for this great Convention to adopt, no difference of opinion as to the great and enormous misdeeds of the general government, no difference of opinion as to the duty of the opposition but there was some discrepancy of opinion when seeking to embody them. When, in the midst of our struggle, it was reported to us what nominations you had made it was hailed with universal gratulation, hope and confidence inspired us, and a spirit of concession, a feeling of conscious victory, and a unity of purpose, brought us together as one man.

The address and series of resolutions of the committee were then read by Judge Nicholas, as follows:
